Principal's Corner

by Jamal Abdur
Salaam Sr.

Hotep JJ Legacy Families,

Testing season is here and JJ Legacy scholars have been working hard to prepare for them. Our focus heading into May is to continue to track growth and finish up our testing season. We also want to find as many ways possible to celebrate the resiliency and hard work we have done together this year as a school family, parents, scholars, community partners and staff. Please be looking out for more information about how we are going to make this happen, soon. While we know that a summer break feels like a much needed time off for our scholars and families, we also know that the pandemic brought on a lot of real challenges and took away some important time for scholars in the classroom. We want you to know that we are working hard on plans with intentions to offer summer school and we will be sending out a survey to families shortly to see what your interests are and if you would like your scholars to attend. We look forward to celebrating all the successes we've had together at JJ Legacy this year with you soon!

In partnership,

Administration

Our Commitments

CHANGE THE NARRATIVE

Our school is dedicated to destroying predictable patterns of educational injustice for black and brown students through high expectations for academic success, prioritization in early literacy, and strong, relational bonds with adults who are purposed for the work.

TOUCH THE SPIRIT

Our school's powerful pedagogy offers a full educational experience that honors the whole child in order to combat white supremacy in education.

WORK COLLABORATIVELY

We are honored that parents and guardians trust us to care and partner in educating their children. We collaborate with parents and guardians and work together to realize the academic and social emotional goals of their child(ren) through individualized learning plans.
